The winner will be invited to record lines for their own character based upon recording availability, either through their own computer system or traveling to Eras recording studio in Aurora, IL. This also includes receiving a performer's credit in the episode.

Additionally, the winner will receive a signed copy of the script by the author and producer of the series, as well as a CD copy of the broadcast.

The winner of this piece will be contacted at WindyCon immediately after the auction to make arrangements and exchange contact information with the producers of Star Trek: Eras.
